

Emily Dunn
Government Relations Manager
Swisse, H&H Group

Emily specialises in corporate affairs and has worked on China-related projects for 10 years, since first reporting for the 2008 Beijing Olympic Games' news service. Emily's current role focuses on corporate affairs and strategy for Swisse's growth in China, South Korea and emerging export markets. Prior to joining Swisse, she worked in government, marketing, media and communications. Emily has an MBA from Peking University exchanging at Cornell, studied Chinese at Nanjing University and initially trained as a journalist with Seven News.

Swisse, headquartered in Melbourne, is the China e-commerce market leader for vitamins and supplements, and was named the most popular imported consumer goods brand in China by TMall Global during the 'Double 11' festival last year. Swisse products are also available in more than 12,600 China retail stores, including a Swisse flagship in Shanghai. Swisse joined H&H Group's portfolio of international premium health and wellness brands, including Biostime, Dodie and Healthy Times, in 2017. H&H Group is listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange.
